Research Methodology

This study is a descriptive type of research based on both secondary and primary data. Field work at large scale will be done to collect the data, facts and factual from the open markets and the real performance scenario of the regulated market. Mathematical and Statistical tools will be applied for better result. There the researcher will be used Survey Method of the research.