1. Objective of the present work –

   The present work incorporates the following objectives –

1) To study and analyse the spatio – temporal changes in technological components of agriculture and in what volume these changes have taken place.

2) To assess the regional imbalances in the level of agricultural performance and levels of agriculture technology.

3) To highlight the regional variations in agricultural development.

4) To examine and analyse the role of modern and sophisticated technologies to the form of Horticulture in the region.

5) To assess the positive and negative impacts of different technologies on agriculture in the region.