1. Hypothesis of the Study –

The hypothesis helps to explain facts. The following hypothesis will be formulated for the present study. These will help in the interpretation and explanation of facts to draw certain generalization that.

1. Change in agricultural practices and adaptation of new technology helps to increase agricultural production and productivity.
2. The adoption of new innovation in agricultural activity is related to decision of farmers.
3. That the decision of adoption of new technology in agriculture is depends on the literacy and economic condition of farmers.
4. The farmers in drought prone region are most practical in his agricultural practices.
5. Agricultural development helps socio economic development of drought prone region of study area.