HYPOTHESIS

1. There is no significant difference in attitude of B.Ed. and D.Ed. training teacher towards teaching profession.
2. There is no significant difference in aptitude of B.Ed. and D.Ed. training teachers.
3. There is no significant relationship between teaching attitude and teaching aptitude of prospective training teachers belongs to urban and rural area.
4. There is no significant relationship between teaching attitude and teaching aptitude of training teachers belong to family of higher and average income level.
5. There is no significant relationship between teaching attitude and teaching aptitude of training teachers belongs to general and reserve caste.