OBJECTIVES

The first objective is to explore the views of the stroke survivors concerning sexual health in relation to physiotherapy, and covers how the body and total life situation affects the sexual health.

The findings shall include three themes

• Sexual health-physical and psychological dimensions

• Impact of stroke

• Possibilities of increasing sexual health-does physiotherapy make difference.

The objectives of second study includes to further investigate views and experiences of the impact of stroke on sexual health, experiences and needs of physiotherapy in this context as well as communication between patients and health professionals concerning sexual health.