Objectives:
This study would be done with the Objective:
1. To measure the relationship between adjustment issues and closeness of married Indian couples.
2. To measure the relationship between adjustment issues and frequency of daily activities done together by married Indian couples with adjustment issues.
3. To measure the relationship between adjustment issues and the strength of partner’s influence on each other in married couples with adjustment issues.
4. To measure the relationship between adjustment issues and the diversity of shared activities of married couples with adjustment issues.
5. To study the effect of marital intervention program on closeness of married Indian couples with adjustment issues in marriage.
6. To study the effect of marital intervention on adjustment levels of married Indian couples with adjustment issues.